How Notes are Named

Music is written on a staff. The staff has five lines. Notes can be written on each of the lines, or in the spaces between the lines.

Practice Naming Notes

Write the letter name of each note on the line below it. The first two notes are done for you.

The image shows two musical staves in treble clef. The first staff contains eight notes: E (line 1), F (line 2), G (line 3), A (line 4), B (line 5), C (line 1), D (line 2), and E (line 3). The notes E and F are labeled with red letters 'E' and 'F' below them. The second staff contains eight notes: G (line 2), A (line 3), B (line 4), C (line 5), D (line 1), E (line 2), F (line 3), and G (line 4). A large red 'SAMPLE' watermark is overlaid diagonally across the staves.

Practice Naming Notes

The image shows two musical staves in treble clef. The first staff contains 13 notes with letter names written below them: E, F, G, A, B, C, D, E, F, E, G, B. The second staff contains 13 notes with letter names written below them: F, A, D, E, F, E, C, B, E, G, F, B. A large red watermark reading 'SAMPLE' is oriented diagonally across the center of the page, overlapping both staves.
